

Charlie Marion is nothing short of everything you want in a student-athlete. Charlie is one of the most competitive young men I have had the privilege to coach and that is evident by his ability to naturally lead a group of people whether he is trying to or not. Charlie always seems to have great situational awareness on when to take matters seriously and when lightening up the mood is warranted. Charlie will be successful due in large part to his ability to lead, but also because his work ethic and respect for others is second to none.
