To whom it may concern:

I have had the pleasure of knowing Chris Cable for nine years. I was his fifth-grade teacher and then continued to support his learning as a tutor.

Chris possess many strengths that benefit him academically, socially, and professionally. He has a strong desire to continually learn and grow. Often, I would assist him as he sought enrichment opportunities. Additionally, he has the ability to set goals and is determined to persevere until he reaches them. For example, he challenged himself with the course load he took in high school and was successful. Lastly, Chris is polite, honest, and empathetic and this shows through in his daily interactions with others.

Chris Cable possesses many strengths that showcase his strong character. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
Mary Schutt
