

August 5th, 2022

To Whom it may Concern,

I have coached Cole Gomez since he was three years old across the sports of Soccer, Football and Baseball. Cole is a bright and pleasant young man. He has a very even keeled approach to sports, he never gets too high or too low. His even temperament is well suited for the long, up and down baseball season. His demeanor is even more suited to a starting pitcher as he is able to stay calm and focused regardless of the situation.

Cole possesses many of the traits you want to see in a pitcher. He has a large and durable frame, his loose arm allows for improvement and his balls have a natural sinking movement to them that keeps the ball off the barrel.

Cole Gomez has a bright future and is one to keep an eye on as he matures. His combination of physical skills and temperament will lead to success both on and off the baseball field.

Kevin Clouser

Retired MLB Scout/Coach