

To whom this may concern:

I am writing this letter on behalf of Jake Williams. Jake Williams has been in our football program the past two years and I would highly recommend him to play collegiate baseball for your program.

Jake is an extremely hard worker. Jake does not miss any weightlifting sessions and he also carries a full-time job. When he was in the weight room, he was one of the hardest working kids in the room. Jake gives everything he has at practice everyday and is a great team player.

Jake has a ton of ability. He could probably play 3 to 4 different positions in our program. He also does whatever our coaches ask him to do without anything other than "yes coach.". Jake started as a junior and he also learned to play multiple positions this year. He was valuable member on many of our special teams as well.

Jake is also a tremendous student athlete and academics always comes first. He carries a very good GPA and that GPA is currently on the rise. He would without a doubt be able to handle the college rigor while also playing baseball.

In closing, I would highly recommend Jake to join your program. He is a hard worker, with talent that is going to keep getting better each year. You will never have to worry about him off the the field either. Please contact me with any additional questions.
