

It is without hesitation that I recommend Colton Planeta for all opportunities that he should pursue. Colton held a leadership position on my son's current team as well as a leader for my son off the field. For the past three plus years, Colton has been developing himself personally as well as being a leader on the team for his peers, but for the players of our opponents. As a parent you look to your child's teammates as an example of the bar you expect your child to hit and have high expectations of delivery. Outside of typical team practice Colton has devoted a lot of his personal time to helping my son and other teammates work towards their potential while working to exceed his own. There is an enthusiasm and passion aspect to Colton that goes unmatched and could even be considered contagious. Colton not only has not only met these expectations but has highly exceeded them not only with his performance on the field, but his ethics off the field as well.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions.

Thank you,
