To Whom It May Concern:

I first met Bryson Sullivan in the fall of 2021 when I first started teaching and coaching at IPCISD. My first impression of him was how committed he was to being the best he could be not only as a baseball player but also as a student. I look forward to the opportunity to recommend Bryson to your school.

Bryson has displayed several qualities that have stood out to me in the three years I have been able to coach him. He is hard working, respectful, trustworthy, and known for his outgoing personality amongst his peers. I have enjoyed getting to know Bryson as well as getting to coach him on the baseball field. He has a positive influence on those around him as he is always looking to help and inspire those around him. He is a great role model for the kids his age as well as the younger kids in our program. He has participated in multiple extracurricular activities such as football and baseball. He is also a member of the National Honor Society.

Bryson has a type of personality that draws people to him due to his high character and his charisma he displays on a daily basis. Bryson has displayed leadership skills for many of his peers and those who look up to him. He is a great leader by example. His success not only in athletics but also academics leaves no doubt about the success he will have after high school. He has many qualities that every college wants to see in their students. Dependable is a word I would use to describe his time here at Iowa Park High School.

Bryson has been a 2 year starter on the varsity baseball team. He has grown tremendously since his freshman and sophomore years and that can be attributed to his commitment to his craft. His determination to be the best he can be is second to none as he is always looking for ways to improve and turn weaknesses into strengths. His commitment in the weight room is a big part of his success as he has become much more explosive due to his relentless effort each and every day. I am excited to see what the future holds for Bryson because I know he will do whatever it takes to be successful.

I recommend Bryson not only as an athlete in your baseball program but also as a student in your school. He does not shy away from work and enjoys the process of getting to the end goal no matter what that is. He is a great student and displays a true team first mentality that you don't find very often in high school kids. His dedication and commitment to excellence leaves no doubt of the success he will have in whatever he sets his mind to.

Sincerely,

Matt Buckmaster
