

In my opinion Gabe Lanier is what you look for in a player as a coach. He is consistently striving to be better in every facet of his game and trying to lift his team mates up around him. As a catcher Gabe can lead a staff of pitchers and hold the running game as well as it can be done. On the mound he shows incredible potential that he has yet to be given the opportunity to realize and show what he's capable of. Over all Gabe is a quality leader that helps make the players around him better and an asset to any team whose goal is to win baseball games.

Sean O'sullivan

Former MLB Pitcher

(Padres, Phillies, Red Sox, Royals, Angels)