

To Whom It May Concern:

It is with much enthusiasm and gratification that I recommend Cash Groppenbacher with the highest of regards. I am Cash's high school baseball coach, and I have had the great pleasure of getting to know him over the past 2 years.

Cash is one of the hardest workers on our team. He works on his game relentlessly and is always looking for ways to improve. He continues to ask questions and seek out knowledge when he needs it. He is the first one to offer help when other teammates need it and pushes them to be at their best. He is a leader not only on our team but on our campus. His display of leadership, communication, and selflessness come naturally to him. He can be seen daily helping others and having conversations to see how their day is going.

Cash is an outstanding human being. I cannot overstate the type of person and ball player he is. If you would like more information about Cash, I have included my contact information below.

Thank you,
