

Gabe Chavira <gabecatcher31@yahoo.com>

Sat, Jul 27,
4:48 PM (3
days ago)

to me

Kingston Griffin is a player that coaches love. He has a great personality with a team first mindset. He is always doing what is asked of him and more with a smile on his face. He is a LHP with a 3 pitch mix and is a competitor on the mound. Kingston is also a plus defender and tracks balls down extremely well. The offensive approach is middle away and he understands his role in the lineup and is constantly grinding away at pitchers each at bat and finding ways on to then be a threat on the bases.