

To whom it may concern,

I've coached Cadell since he was a sophomore on the Truckee high school basketball team. He is hard working, coachable, and willing to do whatever it takes to give the team the best chance for success. He's always on time to practice and ready to get better every day. He leads by example and always encouraged his teammates in a positive way. He gave everything he had to our basketball team. He took every opportunity to sacrifice his body by diving for balls or taking charges. To sum up Cadell Moulton in one sentence; He's one of the most coachable hardworking athletes I've had the pleasure to be around. Any coach would love to have Cadell as a member of their team.
