To Whom It May Concern,

I'm proud to recommend Aiden Martinez, a senior in our baseball program who has been a key member of our team for the past four seasons. Aiden's development as a young man and as an athlete has been nothing short of extraordinary. He embodies everything we stand for: selflessness, passion, intentionality, and a commitment to serving others.

On the field, Aiden is a strong and reliable competitor. He was named to the 3A East All-Region First Team this past season, after earning honorable mention honors the year before, a testament to his steady improvement and commitment to excellence. He plays the game the right way: with heart, focus, and a team-first mentality. What truly sets Aiden apart is his leadership off the field. He leads our team in community service hours and consistently encourages his teammates to get involved. He's not just fulfilling requirements; he's creating a culture. Aiden embodies the brotherhood we strive for in our program and plays a significant role in building that connection among his teammates. Whether it's mentoring younger players or organizing volunteer efforts, Aiden leads by example in every way.

In my time coaching, few student-athletes have represented our program's values with as much consistency and character as Aiden has. He's the kind of player every coach hopes to have: dependable, hardworking, and driven to make those around him better.

Aiden will not only be a valuable asset to any college baseball program, but also as a leader and person of high character. Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions. I wholeheartedly recommend him.

Sincerely,

Christopher Garrett
