

Dear College Coaches,

I'm writing to recommend Kaden Edgington, a true two-way standout who checks every box for a program looking to add immediate impact and long-term upside. As a left-handed pitcher, Kaden currently sits 74-77 with a sharp slider and feel for a change that tunnels off the fastball—commanding the zone and generating weak contact from both sides of the plate. At first base, he picks everything with soft hands, stretches like a pro, and is a leader on the field. At the plate, this lefty contact hitter consistently barrels balls and our go to when we need to move runners, uses the whole field, and posted over a .400 batting average for me this summer and fall. Beyond the tools, Kaden is a 4.0 student, a vocal leader in the dugout, and the first one on the field and the last one out. His growth and gains have been unmatched and continues to be by any other player I can think of. Kaden would be an amazing asset to any program looking to win.
