

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Rawley Evans without hesitation. Rawley is one of those young men every coach hopes to have in a program because his work ethic is unmatched, he shows up, works hard, and doesn't cut corners when nobody's watching. He is coachable, tough-minded, and never too proud to take correction, which allows him to consistently grow. What stands out just as much as his effort is his character; Rawley treats people the right way, respects the process, and puts the team first. He brings a quiet consistency that raises the standard for those around him. Rawley is dependable, respectful, and carries himself with maturity beyond his years. I am confident he will be a positive addition to any school, team, or organization. I strongly recommend him.
