

To whom it may concern,

I have been Roman Fina's baseball pitching coach for several months now. During that time Roman has shown himself to be a dedicated, hard working athlete who has an excellent attitude and demeanor. Roman is very coachable and understands the commitment and devotion it takes to play sports at the next level. Roman is not only committed to improving himself as an athlete, but I have also seen that he is an intelligent and thoughtful young man. I have been coaching baseball for over 15 years and Roman displays the same hard work and dedication that have seen in the college athletes that I have coached. I believe that Roman has the athletic and academic abilities that would make him excel in college athletics.
