

To whom it may concern,

I have had the privilege of coaching Jack Simons for three years on and off the baseball field. Jack is a tremendous human being and is as likeable as anyone in the community. He communicates extremely well and manages to take ownership of his responsibilities within several extracurricular activities on top of sports with poise beyond his years. Jack is an excellent teammate in an era of selfishness and immaturity. He stays engaged and contributes to a positive environment whether the game is going well for the team or not, he keeps his composure. Jack is a leader who leads by example, day in and day out he is going to bring his best and make everyone around him better.

Best,
